NORWICH TOWN

Paschal Joy in the Churches, As Story of the Resurrection is Told in Sermon, Carol and Anthem—Accident to Charles Wheeler—Week End and Holiday Guests.

At Sacred Heart church the joyous note of Easter was emphasized by altar decorations of ascension lilies and roses, palms were about the sanctuary and choice flowers in other parts of the church. Many lighted candles added to the beautiful effect, among them the paschal candle in its place which was lighted at the gospel time.

After the lesson of the day, Rev. C. W. Brennan spoke briefly saying, "Christ's disciples did not expect him to rise from the dead. St. Thomas would not believe until he had seen the print of the nails. Even from unbelievers we may prove the death of Christ."

The Easter candle on the gospel side of the altar is lighted to show that our Lord is the light of the world. This is one of the oldest institutions of the church. The Alleluia, a cry of joy, is used at Easter time. It is from a Hebrew sentence meaning, Praise ye God. In the time of the early Christian little children were taught this exclamation. Emblems used among the people are the egg, a beautiful legend tells how lilies sprang in the footsteps of Jesus after his resurrection. The egg is a symbol of immortality, seemingly dead yet it contains life. Easter is the most joyous festival of the world. We must examine our hearts to see that we are doing right and are ready for the descent of Easter joy.

The singing in the masses showed the result of careful preparation; the chorus parts were in harmony and the solos were well taken. The soloists were Misses May Pouch, Mary Ryan and Annie Pouch; Miss Elizabeth Malone directed the choir.

At First Congregational Church.
Sunday morning at the First Congregational church Rev. G. H. Ewing gave an address upon "The True Meaning of Easter. The first preacher laid emphasis upon the resurrection of Jesus, he began. This was the bright promise of the future of the church, its foundation stone. Easter means for us the larger horizon of the presence of the eternal living Christ, a fresh and genuine Christian experience. By a view of the risen and living Christ our hearts are lifted and we shall behold a new world, the gifts, the springtime grass, the flowers, the birds, show that life is conquering death.

Easter brings to us the assurance of the victory of righteousness and the defeat of evil. We are constantly advancing and changing, may we grow increasingly better as we go on in life. The resurrection is a fresh assurance of the immortality of the soul. Life here is incomplete. There is a homing instinct towards the everlasting life. The future lives, the past indeed, "strive ahead, the way to find" With God's leadership may we find that way.

The enlarged choir numbering ten was listened to most appreciatively. The note of joy in the carols was a perfect expression and the anthems were sung with true interpretation. Solos in clear, sweet tones by Miss Ruth L. Potter and Miss Rosemary Woodward. The evening programme of music was given in fine spirit and harmony, the subject of the address being, Seeking, Finding, with an with an Easter parable.

The beautiful flowers were suggestive of the day. On either side of the pulpit were groups of palms and ferns arranged with stately ascension lilies, Marguerites and spiraea.

First Methodist Church.
The clouds and rain did not prevent a large congregation from gathering at the First Methodist church for the Easter service Sunday morning. The beautiful flowers and foliage massed in front of the reading desk, Easter

OBJECTS TO LOCATION OF POLES

James E. DeWolf Claims They Are Detriment—Matter to Come Before County Commissioners Tuesday.

Claiming that the erection of telegraph poles in the vicinity of his property at Thameville has caused James E. DeWolf to raise an objection to the location of the poles there by the Norwich Gas and Electric company, and the objection has put a stop to the plans of the company, at least temporarily, of which it is proposed to erect will number about 20, to extend along the public highway.

It is understood that the erection of the poles was to start last Monday, but the officials of the gas and electric department learned that Mr. DeWolf intended to raise an objection if the pole line was continued and decided not to attempt to start work until the matter was settled. It is further understood that the matter will be given a hearing before the county commissioners on Tuesday morning.

The power extension is for the purpose of operating a 50 h. p. motor which has been installed at Hall Brothers' mill, and it is said that other motors are to be installed later.

ILLNESS CAUSED POSTPONEMENT OF ECCLES CASE.

Appeal from Probate Will Not Be Heard Until October.

Illness in the family of the counsel of William B. Eccles in the case of William B. Eccles of England vs. the Rhode Island Hospital Trust company, executor, and others, appeal from probate, has caused the continuance of the case to the next term of the superior court which comes in October.

The case grew out of the will of the late John Eccles of this city. In the will a provision was made so that about $225,000 should go to the Rock Nook home at Norwich, Conn. The Rock Nook home is a branch of the United Workers.

Lilies and daffodils and other blossoms of bright tints, the members of the Junior league in white with ribbons and sashes giving color, their sweet voices blending in songs of praise, the scripture reading, all of the opening service, was fitting for this day of days. In the anthem, "The Morning Kinsmen," all the choir sang, the solo by Mrs. F. H. Bushnell, was in good, clear voice, the words and rendering suggesting the beauty of the morning hours. The soprano solo, "The Resurrection," by Shelley, given by Miss Flora E. Penfield of New Bedford, brought out the triumph, the after glory, banishing the grief, sorrow and gloom. Miss Dodge's accompanying added to the enjoyment of the resurrection hymns.

Rev. E. P. Plummer took for his text, Matt. 28:1. And as they went to tell His disciples, behold Jesus met them saying, All hail. After a tedious winter during which death has snatched from some of us those we loved, we need this Easter morning this message: All hail, I am alive forevermore, said Christ in His resurrection. The pastor showed by illustration how much Jesus meant by this greeting, and then those present joined with him in repeating, Christ is risen, all hail. All hail, this battle cry of victory which the disciples and we also are slow to understand. We are slow to leave our troubles and disappointments and rise to a higher life.

Religion is a personal and affectionate outpouring of the soul to Christ. His words are addressed to all, to the old, the young. Jesus knows each one by our name. Christ is living to see you do your duty today and every day. Shall we rise above obstacles, sins, temptation, and trials and be alive for Christ? The meaning of Christ's victory over death is an empty grave through His power. There is a resurrection. Our dead shall live again in the glory world, angels said, He is risen, as they rolled away the stone. He lives to plead for His own in the heaven above.

In closing the pastor gave a realistic description of the observance instituted by Jacob Riis, in which 6,000 of the people of Riverside, Cal., in the early morning wind their way up to the cross on San Antonio mountain, singing The Holy City, and, In the Cross of Christ I Glory. After prayer on the mountain top they return singing, Calvary, O Calvary.

WOMAN SLASHED THROAT WITH BUTCHER KNIFE.

Children Discovered Mother's Body in Pool of Blood.

Mrs. Isabelle Whitcomb of Terrace avenue, New London, 42 years of age, committed suicide at her home Saturday afternoon, by cutting her throat with a butcher knife. The act of self destruction was committed in a fit of despondency.

Mrs. Whitcomb killed herself about 1.30. All the morning Mrs. Whitcomb, who has been in ill health for some time and who has been suffering from melancholia for several years, was seen to be in a fit of despondency, but no particular attention was paid to her.

Shortly after dinner she went to her chamber upstairs and there slashed her throat with a butcher knife. The wound extended clear across the throat and death must have ensued within a few minutes after the wound was inflicted.

Mrs. Whitcomb's children and another woman were the only occupants of the house at the time, but they were unaware of the act and the children came upon the body of their mother in her room accidentally. The children had occasion to go to the room and the horrible sight of their mother lying on the floor in a pool of blood, met their gaze.

Without stopping to investigate they rushed from the room and made known their discovery. Dr. E. C. Hipman was hurriedly called, but upon his arrival there, Mrs. Whitcomb was dead.

Medical Examiner Harry M. Lee was notified of the suicide and immediately went to the house where he conducted an investigation into the circumstances of the suicide. The circumstances pointed to self-destruction and he gave a verdict of suicide.

Mrs. Whitcomb is survived by her husband, Fred H. Whitcomb, who is employed as a bookkeeper in the office of the Standard Oil company in East New London, and three children.

FORT WRIGHT MAN IS STILL MISSING.

Nothing to Indicate Whereabouts of Sergeant Whose Leave of Absence is Overdue.

Sergeant Scott of the One Hundred and Forty-Sixth company, who has been missing from his post nearly a week, had still failed to put in an appearance Saturday. Sergeant Scott was due last Monday to return from a leave of absence, but he has failed to return for duty and his non-appearance has caused some misgivings that he might have lost his life in the wreck at Bradford Monday night, as Sergeant Scott has always had a reputation for reporting promptly from leaves of absence. Captain Christy, who is in command of the company, states, however, that he had learned nothing definite to indicate that Sergeant Scott might have been on the wrecked train.

Will Exemplify Third Degree.

District Deputy John H. Henson of Jewett City and his staff will exemplify the third degree on a class of candidates of Pequot council, No. 125, K. of C., in Montville Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 2.30. A large number of officers and members of the councils in the state are expected to be present. After the degree a committee of three consisting of John Cuddy, Cornelius Fitzgerald and Cornelius Driscoll will serve refreshments.
